New Zealand's native orchids 'beautiful, charming'

Speaker - Jean Stefanik

February 8 at 12:30

THE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING OF THE CAPE COD FAIRGROUNDS

1220 Nathan Ellis Hwy, (Rt. 151) East Falmouth MA 02536 (White fences on North side of Hwy.)

Last Month's Meeting: Members learned the fine points of preparing and transporting their plants to shows, especially during the cold winter months. This was helpful advice which was put to good use for our show!

February Meeting: New Zealand's native orchids Jean Stefanik, grows orchids, is an American Orchid Society judge and is a specialist in native orchids. She recently spent time travelling in New Zealand looking at native New Zealand orchids. She will share her experience.

Refreshments: Goodies provided by MEMBERS J-Z PLEASE! Coffee and tea provided

Raffle and Member Show Table: Members should bring any plants they wish to show and have the best available expert discuss them with audience participation, all questions kindly answered. As an incentive, each plant shown will receive a Raffle ticket for orchid plants. Another raffle will be for purchased tickets only. The Society appreciates donated plants for raffles.

Orchids Questions – Answers – Helpful Hints

Several of our members acquired new plants at the show and have asked for care information. Below is some general information.

“Zygopetalum Growing tips:

Temperature: Zygopetalum orchids will tolerate considerable summer heat as long as they have mild nighttime temperatures between 50-65 degrees F. Exposure to cold temperatures (down to 28 degrees F) for a few hours each night will not damage an acclimatized plant, but once the plant spikes or flowers, it should be protected from temperatures below 35 degrees F. Always keep these plants free from frost.

Light: Your Zygopetalum enjoys the morning and afternoon sun but should be protected from hot midday sunlight. A light green leaf with just a hint of yellow indicates that the plant is receiving the maximum amount of sun it can take; a dark green leaf indicates that it needs more sunlight.

Water: Watering of Zygopetalum is a delicate balancing act. They should not be allowed to go dry, yet they don't care for a soggy environment either. Watering once every seven to ten days is about right. As with everything else, special consideration must be given for the drying effects of varying ambient air temperature and humidity.

Feeding: High nitrogen fertilizers (25-9-9) should be used from February until July, while low nitrogen fertilizers (6-25-25) should be used from August until January. Feed one teaspoon to a gallon of water once a month.

Repot: Repot every two to three years from February to June with a well-draining medium.

Mounted Orchids:

Keeping adequate humidity is very important to all orchids, but even more so with mounted plants. There is very little material surrounding the roots to provide lasting moisture and you will notice even the moss you placed around the roots will dry after only a day or so. In the average home your plant will need to be watered 3-5 times per week. The best way is to take your orchid to a sink or faucet and drench the entire plant and mount. If your plant is unhappy due to low humidity a suggestion is to try a cool mist humidifier and a small fan in your growing space. Fertilizer can be applied about every 2-3 weeks, after a thorough watering.

Temperatures and light will depend on the species or hybrid you are growing. Most plants will appreciate lower light and moderate temperatures for the first few weeks after mounting to avoid stress. After that, you will need to adjust for the culture of specific plants.

Reminder: Keep watching your plants for any unwelcomed visitors and show them the door as quickly as possible! Check the CAIOS website or previous newsletters on how to rid your plants of pests.

Do you have a hint or experience you would like to share with the members? Have you acquired a new plant and you need some advice? Please continue to contact me via e-mail (OakH35@yahoo.com) (or see me at one of the monthly meetings) with your questions, hints or something you would like to share with the members. All of your questions answered in upcoming newsletters.

Members Corner:

Do you have something to sell or trade or of interested to share with other members? Let us know and we will add it to the next newsletter. (Pres Tom or Ed. Lynn Schaeffer, e-mails below)

Editor's Note: There seems to have been a problem with the delivery of the newsletter by the postal service the past 2 months. We have been trying to determine the cause in order to remedy the situation. If you or someone you know does not received the newsletter via regular mail, please contact us.

A few e-mail recipients have also had a problem. We will be sending this newsletter from webmaster@caios.org this month. Hopefully we will not receive any “undeliverable” notices. You should also check your SPAM folder and make sure you have added CAIOS to your list of allowable addresses.
